FEW PLACES ON EARTH OFFER such close contact with wildlife as the Galapagos Islands, with this far-flung Ecuadorian archipelago protected as a national park since 1959. While most Galapagos tours are cruise-based, this small group, multisport adventure offers an active way of discovering the islands while gaining a completely different perspective.

It combines gentle paddles to remote coves with nights spent camping on pristine beaches and a hike to the rim of an active volcano. During snorkeling excursions, you'll come face-to-face with the Galapagos Islands' abundant marine life, before watching as seabirds soar above your camp at sunset.

This trip is designed to offer an intimate experience of a world like no other while accessing sites that aren't visited by cruise vessels. While exploring five different islands, you'll enjoy peace of mind that you are traveling in the most sustainable manner possible, with a small carbon footprint and "Leave No Trace" principles in practice. Our tours are designed to bring a strong economic benefit to the local communities we visit and the opportunity for guests to experience the Galapagos way of life.

Galapagos
Unbound

ALL OF OUR STABLE SEA KAYAKS are designed for two paddlers and trips include support from a panga to ensure everyone's comfort and safety on the water. While some paddling experience is advisable, we provide a briefing on kayaking techniques and safety at the start of our trips.

Galapagos Unbound

Galapagos Unbound was featured in the New York Times on January 8, 2006 with Tim Neville's article in the travel section.

While our original itinerary has been somewhat modified, the essence remains unchanged as our certified, local guides work with the Galapagos Park Service to provide an unsurpassed Galapagos multisport adventure.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

TESTIMONIAL

"Bucket list, trip of a lifetime - the Galapagos Islands are an amazing place and Galapagos Unbound offers a unique way to see the islands. We spent 9 amazing days with our guide who was personable, knowledgeable, passionate about the islands and fun to be around. We opted for this trip over the typical cruises because we wanted a different perspective on the islands, and we got it. Camping on Playa Manglecito, kayaking around the islands, and the concentrated effort to spend time with the locals were all special experiences that we will never forget. The wildlife that we saw up close and personal was awesome - sea lions, marine iguanas, rays, sharks, seahorses, blue footed boobies, and more. We are already trying to decide where to go next with Adventure Unbound."
